To Whom It May Concern,

My name is Curtis Mork and kids know me as the Lego Guy. For thirteen years I have held exhibits, talks about Lego centered around the history of Lego and building challenges for the Summer Reading Programs. In 2019, I visited libraries in my home state of Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, Iowa and Wisconsin. With 625 Lego sets in my collection now, I am able to give kids a sneak peek at some of the things Lego is doing now and what they have done in the past.

The purpose for this letter is to see if your library would enjoy a program with me. My fees are pretty simple. I offer a flat rate of $350 per program. This covers everything from setup to teardown and lodging. If you wish to have multiple program times, the rate would be $600. Some libraries have partnered up to have me in an area for an extended period of time including a three week trip to Wisconsin in 2019 in which I worked with over 30 libraries in the same district. However, I am always willing to travel to anyone. Please be aware, I am available during the spring and fall as well. Weather pending of course.

A full list of the workshops I can provide to you are available upon request.

If you are interested in discussing a possible program, you can call or email me at the information provided. You can also view my collection by visiting my Lego Guy Facebook page.

Building Imagination Every Day,

Curtis Mork, The Lego Guy
